Special Workshop

10:30 a.m., Friday: An Introduction to Hearing Loops with Warren Brown (Chautauqua Hall)

Do you know someone who has trouble hearing? Hearing loops can help. A hearing loop takes crystal clear sound from a public-address system and broadcasts it directly to most hearing aids or special wireless headset listeners. They are easy to access and are compatible with most hearing aids. Many places like churches, theaters, retirement communities, and Lakeside have installed hearing loops. Learn how hearing loops can help people listen clearly in hard to hear places.

Warren Brown has worked in the audio-visual business for 30 years. He is a hearing loop advocate, expert designer, and installer. He has presented the benefits of hearing loops to hundreds of organizations throughout Ohio and the surrounding regions.

His company is responsible for the installation of the new hearing loop system in Orchestra Hall and Chautauqua Hall.
