A collaborative effort blending the craftsmanship of the Lakeside Wooden Boat Show and the artistic expression of the Plein Air Art Festival will create one of Lakeside’s most unique weekends of the summer from July 14-17.

This three-day event begins on Friday, July 14 when more than 30 plein air artists from across the Midwest arrive to paint outdoor landscapes until Sunday, July 16.

The term “en plein air” means painting “out in the air.” The artists will be painting scenes throughout the entire community, and all are invited to watch them paint.

On Sunday, the Lakeside waterfront will transform into an outdoor showroom of classic wooden boats, as artists line the dock and the lawn of Hotel Lakeside for the 14th Annual Lakeside Wooden Boat Show from 12-4 p.m.

More than 80 wooden boats, each classified by the year it was made, will be featured. To register a wooden boat, contact Wooden Boat Show Coordinator Mame Drackett at mame@dickett.com or (239) 776-6205. Registration is free.

Several plein air events will also take place on Sunday. Watch artists paint along Ohio’s Most Beautiful Mile and in Central Park during the Plein Air Paintout from 12:30-2 p.m.

Children are invited to paint south of the Pavilion from 1-3:30 p.m. for a fee of $1. Proceeds support the Rhein Center.

Jefferson Starship lands in Hoover

Formed in the wake of legendary bands Jefferson Airplane and Rock & Roll Hall of Fame inductee, Jefferson Airplane, Jefferson Starship brings new energy to the classic rock songs while staying true to the integrity of the music.

They will perform his songs such as “We Built This City,” “Miracles” and “Corn on the Cob” when they visit Lakeside’s Hoover Auditorium at 8:15 p.m. Saturday, July 15.

Paul Katner, founding member of Jefferson Airplane, formed Jefferson Starship with the original spirit of Jefferson Airplane in mind. Katner said of the group, “Jefferson Starship is my creation… and it has this nice fluidity about it that allows any number of people to come in and do things with whatever Jefferson Starship is.”

Bi-weekly Farmers’ Market produces excitement in the community

In addition to the Master Plan discussions Lakeside is facilitating this summer, we are asking the community to provide feedback on the Chautauqua programming that Lakeside offers.

Over the summer, there will be a series of questionnaires to collect your individual opinions related to Lakeside’s program offerings. This Programming Assessment will work hand-in-hand with the Master Plan as Lakeside continues to work towards a Lakeside that serves everyone who loves it.

Lakeside Chautauqua is proud of the variety of the programs we offer to guests of all ages, abilities and interests. We also invite you to mark your calendars for the next Master Planning Committee workshop from 8:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. Saturday, July 22 in Hoover Auditorium. In the focus of the session will be Planning Principles & Conceptual Priorities.

Representatives from MKSK, the Columbus-based planning firm Lakeside has partnered with for the Master Plan, will present their progress on the plan and collect feedback from community members. The pass must be stamped by a Gate Attendant for entry into the area.

For lunch, dine at one of Lakeside’s restaurants or enjoy a variety of grilled options at the Wooden Boat Show Restaurant.

In celebration of an old Lakeside tradition, the Lakeside Heritage Society is coordinating an Ice Cream Social from 12:30-2:30 p.m. in Central Park near the Grindley Aquatic & Wellness Campus. Attendees at the Ice Cream Social can purchase opportunity tickets to win an antique ice cream table and dispenser. Tickets are $5 each or $20 for 5 at the Grindley Center tent in Central Park or use one that is available.

Nancy, her children and their friends began coming to Lakeside around 15 years ago. The "Snack Shack" was named after one of the children's friends who made a tradition of keeping a snack bowl available for "snack time!"

Nancy used the obituary to track down the grandchildren of Emily and James who first discovered Lakeside through Jerry’s Will. Nancy purchased the cottage in September 2012. It had been on the market for 2 years with no takers in need of some TLC. The remodel was completed in the summer of 2013.

Although the Jankes have visited Lakeside many times, “Heartwood Cottage” is named after Janice’s Motherhood Hills home, Heartwood. Heartwood is the non-profit living center of a tree around which the living part grows. Similarly, “Heartwood Cottage” is named around which their family grows. The former toilet closet was moved to the bathroom and is shaded by the largest red oak in Lakeside.

After the Jankes have visited Lakeside since the 1980s, their true introduction occurred about a dozen years ago when they spent a weekend stay at "Simple Gifts" as guests of Chet and Richard Hahn, a bed and breakfast in Chautauqua Institution in New York. “Heartwood Cottage” is named after Janice’s Motherhood Hills home, Heartwood. Heartwood is the non-profit living center of a tree around which the living part grows. Similarly, “Heartwood Cottage” is named around which their family grows. The former toilet closet was moved to the bathroom and is shaded by the largest red oak in Lakeside.

Like Emily, current owner Nancy has lovingly restored this cottage over past several years. The hardwood floors have been redone and the downstairs opened up. The original porch windows open into the living room adding to the airiness of the downstairs. The original starway was quite narrow and needed to be repurposed for an access on an upstairs bath.

Last year, an exterior restoration was completed. A new door, gable peaks and mortared chimneystack. Nancy completed the landscape by adding a permeable patio paver and flowerbeds that help absorb Runnaway.

The interior features a coat of fabulity, closets and colorful spaces that make the cottage vibrant and cheery. Ginger used the curtains, paint, fabric, and recycled materials to make the cottage vibrant and cheery.

The Kelmers began coming to Lakeside in 1994 after one of the children’s friends made a tradition of keeping a snack bowl available for “snack time!”

Living In a Historic District

Telah Tomlinson
Historic Preservation & Design Review Board

Lakeside’s Historic District designation brings many positive benefits and also involves some responsibility. It is essential to preserve the character and ambience of Lakeside, both big attractions for new homeowners. In doing so, property investments are protected, some cohesiveness within the community is provided and Lakeside’s history is preserved. Due to Lakeside being a tightly built community, special attention needs to be paid to details. This is not only for preservation, but also for the enjoyment of homeowners and neighbors alike.

Attention to those details is the responsibility of the Historic Preservation & Design Review Board (HP&DRB). And the most important guidelines to follow are the size and scale of new buildings, building materials and also landscape plans. When reviewing application plans for projects in Lakeside, the HP&DRB looks at details all carefully and thoughtfully. It is helpful to all property owners to ensure that the application details are fully complete in order to avoid delays on the project.

LESS Environmental Poster Project

The Lakeside Environmental Stewardship Society (LESS) is once again coordinating a poster project to celebrate one of Lakeside’s most beloved environmental features, Lake Erie. All Lakesiders are invited to create a poster showing why they love Lake Erie, and why we need to be paid to details. This is the primary goal of the Lakeside Environmental Stewardship Society (LESS) to promote the understanding, appreciation, and importance of the environment of Lakeside and beyond.

Its secondary goal is to influence the state and national legislatures in their actions to protect and improve the environment.

Membership is open to anyone interested in the environment. All LESS meetings and events are open to the public.

In order to reach its goals, LESS has organized several educational seminars for this summer, including: Lake Erie Update (July 21); Incorporating Green into Your Life, Home & Community (July 28); Book Review: The Gift (Aug. 4); and Contrast of God’s Creation (Aug 11). All seminars are at 1:30 p.m.

Lakeside programs and news

The firm will lead a Planning Principles & Preliminary Concepts Workshop at 9:30 a.m. Thursday, July 22 in Hoover Auditorium to present Lakeside’s master plan progress and collect feedback from community members. All Lakesiders are invited to participate in this community engagement, new concepts will be re-identified and community priorities will be identified. This will ensure that Lakeside has future program planning spaces, recreational facilities, green spaces, accommodations, retail, transportation and parking solutions, as well as the best use of its existing buildings.

Stay tuned for ways to be engaged in the planning process this summer. For updates, visit www.lakesidemasterplan.com.

Dakota Harkins
Manager, Lakeside Heritage Society

In this week’s highlight from the “Toys of Yesteryear” exhibit at Heritage Hall Museum, the Lakeside Heritage Society recognizes the various characters and nursery rhymes of the past with a pair of children’s Linscott picture books.

Full of charming children and colorful farm animals, both the nursery Rhymes and Annual Friends books feature the characteristic carousels of line graphic artists in the 1950s and 1940s.

Populated by the Merrill Publishing Company in Chicago, Linscott books often only are illustrated, not the authors, due to their strong emphasis on the characters.

The artists for the Heritage Hall Museum artifacts, George Trimmer and Florence Salter, were among the more popular Merrill Publishing Company illustrators of the era.

By coupling bold paintings with memorable moral rhymes, the Linscott set the standard for real-stand children’s books in the 20th Century.

Both Linscott books are on permanent display at Heritage Hall Museum by Gretchen Curtis, Lakeside Heritage Society volunteer.

The vibrant 1919 edition of Annual Friends, No. 3455 explores daily farm life with paintings of playful kittens, swimming ducks and a cheerful rooster. Lakesiders young and old will recognize familiar children’s songs and poems like “Humpty Dumpty” and “Mary, Mary,” both featured in the 1941 Nursery Rhymes.

Make your way over to Heritage Hall Museum and see how many other nursery rhymes you remember from our vintage book collection.

Religious Life Workshops to take place in July & August

Over the next few weeks, the Religious Life Department is coordinating various workshops and events on familiar topics, including Dr. Greg Livio, The Rev. Bob Machovec, and the Rev. Bob Machovec. Read details about each workshop below.

Workshops with Dr. Greg Livio 2
2 p.m., Monday-Thursday: a遵循在《圣经》的世界里：问题在哪里？是否在本体论？文本的某个部分？如果是，提出自己的问题并进行讨论。

Dr. Greg Livio will have had similar experiences in corporate, church, and collegiate settings. Livio’s Lakeiders Religious Life Advisory Team hopes to provide a venue for a new way of seeking union, reconciliation, peace and justice-based understandings. Each day, this workshop will be replicated wherever Lakeiders encounter reality.

Participants will have the opportunity to comment on church life, and the dialogue experienced during this ancient approach is called Lectio Divina, divine reading, or in modern terms, Bible reflection.

Another approach is Living into the Scriptures, also known as the Ignatius Prayer Method. This approach places you biblically into the biblical scene as one participant. We will then share what we have heard and experienced.

Jerry Lucas to speak at Lakeside’s First Prayer Breakfast

Alex Stelzer
Director of Marketing

Lakeside Chautauqua welcomes N.B. All-Star and goldmedal Olympic Jerry Lucas on Friday, July 28 for a special event highlighting his faith journey.

Lucas will serve as the keynote speaker for Lakeside’s first Prayer Breakfast at 7:10 a.m. Friday, July 28 in Wesley Lodge. The Prayer Breakfast is in memory of Jim Kettlewell and his dedication to nurturing Lakeside’s spirit.

As a basketball legend, Lucas saw success as a national championship high school in Middletown, Ohio, a two-time NCAA Player of the Year at The Ohio State University, a gold-medal Olympian and a seven-time NBA All-Star. Now known for his expertise on memory lessons, Lucas has written several books and articles on this very topic. Throughout his accomplished athletic career and his strides in memory research, Lucas held onto his strong faith, which he will share about at the Prayer Breakfast.

Lucas, former head coach of Ashland University’s women’s basketball team, will also join the Prayer Breakfast. Lucas will reflect on her own faith journey.

Retired from a 35-year coaching career, 20 of which she served with Ashland University, she led the Eagles to a Division II national title in 2013. Her commitment to excellence is shadowed only by her deep and abiding faith.

In addition to sharing his faith journey at the Prayer Breakfast, Lucas will lead a special presentation on memory retention at 10:30 a.m. in Orchestra Hall. Following the presentation, there will be a book signing and a luncheon where he will share about his journey as one of the greatest basketball athletes.

Tickets for the Prayer Breakfast and luncheon are sold out.

Updates to Hoover Worship setting

Ever since the start of the Chautauqua Choir with Michael Shirley, Lakeside Chautauqua through its Religious Life Advisory Team, has discussed how to make simple changes to the worship setting in order to be more inviting to those comfortable with “contemporary worship settings.” We will continue to preserve tradition and add simple things, even trying some just for a few weeks at a time. We have put words to hymns on PowerPoint, as well as in the bulletin. We now have two sets of flowers, placed on each side of the pulpit.

This year, we started using the camera to project the person in pulpit, the flowers and the setting. This Sunday, thanks to the creative woodwork of Dwight King, we will have a ceiling to floor cross (for four weeks), and put the Bible on a stand in front of pulpit. 2017 “State of Lakeside” Address
6:15 p.m. Thursday, July 20 in Orchestra Hall

Lakeside Chautauqua President CEO Kevin Sibbings will reflect on the financial picture and vision of Lakeside’s future.
He knew that by combining such powerful creative forces, personalities and talents, he could create a group that was greater than the sum of its parts.

From 1974-1984, Jefferson Starship released eight gold and platinum albums, charted 20 hit singles, played sold-out shows across the world and carried on the classic rock & roll legacy.

Although decades have passed since Jefferson Airplane’s music first hit the rock & roll scene, their music continues to remain relevant as it appears throughout today’s pop culture on TV, movies, commercials and classic rock radio.

Jefferson Starship still keeps up a hectic touring schedule that includes appearances on TV, such as “My Music: 60s Pop, Rock and Soul” on PBS.

Additionally, from 2014-2015, the group performed a series of free concerts for U.S. veterans and was awarded a Certificate of Appreciation from the U.S. Department of Defense. In the last three years alone, Jefferson Starship has performed two concerts in 20 different countries.

Kanter passed away in 2016, but the group continues to uphold his legacy. Jefferson Starship is now made up of original members Peter Farina, David Freiberg (vocals, guitar) and Donny Baldwin (drums), alongside longtime members Chris Smith (keyboard, synth bass), Jude Gold (lead guitar) and Gimmy Connolly/Charles Richard (lead vocalist).

Although the members may change, it’s apparent that Katner achieved his goal of creating a group greater than the sum of its parts as Jefferson Starship continues to perform as a living legend. Jefferson Starship’s take on classic songs is sure to entertain Lakesiders.

Concert in the Park: Wally & The Beavs
12-4 p.m., Sunday, July 16
Pavilion East Deck

Wally & The Beavs will return to the Pavilion East Deck from 12-4 p.m. Sunday, July 16 to provide entertainment during the Lakeside Wooden Boat Show & Plein Air Festival.

The band performs a variety of popular Motown and classic rock music, including cover songs by Steely Dan, The Beatles, Chicago and other respected artists.

Wally & The Beavs was created by lead singer William “Wally” Hesselschwardt who, at the time, was part of a comedy rock group in California called The Other Half. He has shared the stage with musical acts including Three Dog Night, The Beach Boys, Edgar Winter, Rick Derringer and Michael Stanley.

When his son was born in 1990, Hesselschwardt left the group and returned to Ohio, where he joined a rhythm and blues group to keep his voice in good shape.

He was approached by a regular at a small bar who asked Hesselschwardt to form a band and to perform for an upcoming party. Hesselschwardt assembled a group of musicians, and the band held only one rehearsal before their first gig.

When a member of the newly formed band asked Hesselschwardt what his next rehearsal would be, Hesselschwardt said, “at our first gig.” The gig was a success, but eventually the band broke up.

In 1992, a new group was formed by Hesselschwardt and Joel Borkeman, the group’s keyboardist. It is this band that adopted the name, “Wally & The Beavs.”

Through the years, various musicians have joined and left the band, and the group has developed to perfect its signature heavy rock sound.

Today, band members, including Shannen Ford, Nathan Santos, Joel Borkeman, Al Ticheme, Jeff Skaggs, Bruce Burkhardt and Ed Adams, join Hesselschwardt to continue the tradition of “good time rock & roll.”

When the Cold War ended, many anticipated that the competition between the superpowers would end and that a new era of cooperation would begin. Yet, by 1995, this certainly seemed to be the case. Under the presidency of Boris Yeltsin, Russia aligned to U.S. national interests and embraced U.S. priorities for the world. But by 1996, this all changed. With the expansion of NATO, the U.S. involvement in the war in former Yugoslavia, as well as the failure of economic reforms, many in Russia wondered if the country was heading in the wrong direction. The war in Bosnia and Herzegovina, closely linked with U.S. advisors, led to increased skepticism about U.S. intentions. As Russians began to question their relationship with the U.S., the Kremlin adopted a policy that was far less accommodating of U.S. interests. This new Cold War began to stir national pride and events that brought the two countries to the brink of war. These questions will be explored in this lecture.

Richard Arnold graduated from the University of York in the United Kingdom. He earned his master's and doctoral degrees in political science from The Ohio State University. Arnold wrote his dissertation on the future of Russian foreign policy, relating particularly on Russia's burgeoning skinhead subculture and its role in shaping Russian politics. He teaches courses in international relations, post-Soviet politics, Russian foreign policy and international law, among others. He also oversees the Muskingum University Model United Nations program. His book, Russian Nationalism and Ethnic Violence: From Grozny to Godega, which analyzes neo-Nazi violence, Cossack violence against Chechen national minorities and the role of the Russian Federation, was published in 2016. Arnold currently serves as a reviewer for several publications, including The Journal of Political Science Education, Ethnic Studies Review, Democratization and East European Politics. His research interests include Russian cultural politics, with a specialization in Russian political culture, and Russian media. His articles have appeared in the Journal of Political Science Education, Ethnic Studies Review, Democratization and East European Politics.

My son and his family were traveling to Lakeside to visit us, and as they approached the Thomas Edison Bridge, our grandson, Charlie, who was about 5 at the time, told his Dad, "Dad, this is the 'Bridge of Happiness,'" meaning they were coming to Lakeside.

As a family, we started coming to Lakeside approximately 40 years ago for one week of vacation in the summer. We did that for about 15 years, and it was always the highlight of the summer for our family of my wife, me and our four children.

In 2000, we purchased a cottage in Lakeside, which we totally renovated and then sold in 2008, and purchased the home where we presently are located in Lakeside. To Leslee, me and our family, since we purchased a home, Lakeside has been a great place for family get-togethers and family fun. There is no other place where the inter-generational opportunities and experiences can take place on a regular basis. It is truly a place where all of our family yearns to come whenever possible.

But, in addition to being a place for family, it is truly a second community for Leslee and me. Not only do we enjoy Ohio's Most Beautiful Mile and the many other activities and programs that Lakeside provides, but we also enjoy our relationships with so many people. The narrow streets, open front porches, community events and programs provide for a setting where you have the opportunity to meet and greet other Lakesiders and visitors on a daily basis. In fact, the grandson who called the Edison Bridge the "Bridge to Happiness" told me several years ago that he doesn't like to walk with me anymore because I stop and talk to everybody. This is the essence of Lakeside.

Even though most Lakesiders are only here for the summer, the relationships that you develop here equal or exceed those relationships that you develop in your hometown. It is amazing how many people years to get back to Lakeside each year to re-establish the relationships they have developed at Lakeside. I believe one of the reasons that the sense of community is established so easily is because so many Lakesiders end up participating in the same events on a weekly and daily basis. For example, we all attend the same church services, many of the people attend the same educational programs, and we all attend the same evening performances in addition to the many other activities that go on in Lakeside. This continuing familiarity gives you a level of comfort when greeting and talking to friends and even other visitors who you will see over and over again during the time that they are visiting. I have also had the added opportunity to become very involved in volunteering at Lakeside, first as a Board member and Board Chair of the Lakeside Chautauqua Foundation, and now as a Board member and Board Chair of Lakeside Chautauqua. This has certainly given me the opportunity to know Lakeside and many of the Lakesiders on a much deeper basis.

In summary, while Lakeside and the Lakeside community has been a significant part of the lives of Leslee, me and our family for many years, since purchasing a cottage and then a home here, Lakeside the place, and Lakeside the community, is very much a part of who we are.

Lake Erie is the largest of the Great Lakes in terms of surface area and volume. The lake is about 110 miles (177 kilometers) wide and 240 miles (386 kilometers) long, and it has a surface area of about 9,600 square miles (25,000 square kilometers). The lake is drained by the Maumee River, which flows into Lake Erie from the west and empties into Black River near Sandusky, Ohio. Lake Erie is divided into two parts by the Presque Isle peninsula, which extends into the lake from the northwest shore. The western part of the lake is called Upper Lake Erie, and the eastern part is called Lower Lake Erie. The lake is shallow, with a maximum depth of about 212 feet (65 meters). The lake is known for its abundant natural resources, including its fish and wildlife. The lake is also important for its recreation opportunities, including boating, fishing, and swimming. The lake is a popular destination for tourists and outdoor enthusiasts who enjoy water sports and other activities. Lake Erie is also an important source of water for the surrounding area, as it provides drinking water for many communities in the region. The lake is subject to environmental issues, including pollution from runoff and industrial activity, as well as changes in temperature and sea level due to climate change. lakeerie lakelakeerie ## Fine arts & crafts for all Lakesiders

Lakeside Chautauqua houses a treasure trove of artists, located on the corner of Walnut Avenue and Sixth Street, known as the C. Kirk Rhein, Jr. Center for the Living Arts. Arts programming began there on Aug. 9, 1999, thanks to a generous gift from the Rhein family, and friends, in memory of their son, Kirk. The Rhein Center provides classes across the entire spectrum of the arts for Lakesiders of all ages. Classes are taught by artists and art teachers who share a passion for inspiring creativity. Each week brings new instructors and new class offerings in areas such as drawing, painting, crafts, ceramics, dance, fiber arts, glass, writing, jewelry and theatre. Classes vary in skill level, length and number of sessions.

Free daily drawing and writing prompts called ARTrageous Pages are available for pick-up on the Rhein Center porch Monday-Friday. The Rhein Center is always looking for additional teachers. If you are interested in leading a class next year, please contact rheincenter@lakesideohio.com or stop by to talk with Michelle.

Week 5 Rhein Center Class Schedule (July 17-21)

Online registration with credit card payment opens at 8 a.m. each Thursday for the following week’s classes. Register online at www.lakesideohio.com/arts or stop by to talk with Michelle. Refunds for class fees must be available until 1 p.m. on Mondays.
